THE RAYMOND LION

We tried to let you Lions tell the little lady to come out and play on Monday night. The first Ladies Night of the current year was held in the Legion Hall. At seven thirty you Lions and Lionesses were served a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings. We were full, entertained, and happy. Loren Larsen, the Tail Twister, kept things humming during the meal. Ray lost his shirt and Mrs. Bigelow found all the stuff that she has been losing for the last day or two (in Lyle's pockets). If there is any H— going on, Herbe will likely be there. He and Loren carried off a special progressive auction for a beautiful blue tie—hand painted—and after raising three bucks on it sold it to Jack Jones. Jack signed a special guarantee and when it was opened, oh boy, what a torso was painted on that tie.

Alredge gave a bit of scripture style history of Raymond—especially that part involving Lions. It was very apt as well as entertaining. Bill Greep pleased the gang with a couple of very clever numbers in his own style. Joe McLean led several Lion songs and a few others with the whole group in on the melody. (?) Mas Terakita sang an old favorite, "That Old Sun" in his special crooning arrangement. He is always good for a big hand—we really like it.

Deb Thompson and Mrs. Deb worked very hard on the program and though they might be disappointed several times they will always come up with a good one. After the short presentation just described Deb hauled out a record player and announced that everybody must dance. We jigged, glided, granded right and left, and reeled Virginia style until everybody was about pood out. God Save The King saved several wobbly Lions and the party broke up before anybody was ready to leave.

The boys were busy checking their books of tickets for the Vulcan-Innisfail Lions Arena project. You can win a big bargain in a lovely Chevrolet as well as help out a very much needed project. This will help our own community a great deal because half of all money collected stays with the Raymond Lions Club for our own Playground. Besides we need the car in Raymond.

Many of the boys could not get to this happy little party for the ladies. We feel sorry for them—but most, we regret that their Lovely Lionesses could not come. Try harder next time—anyway if any Lionesses is likely to be let down just leave us your phone number and we will send another Lioness around to bring you in. We had fun—Don't miss the next one.

The committee for conservation of sight and the blind is still pounding through the canvass for funds for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. This is one of the most deserving projects that you will have the privilege of helping. Give because you love to see, give because you love to help the unfortunate—give because you want to know that another blind man has been made independent.

DOGGONE IF IT AIN'T TRUE!

We so often hear a man called a "dog" in tones of severe reproach. Yet a dog does not swear, does not lie, not swindle, does not pretend, does not cheat, nor does he gossip. In fact I doubt if he would even resent being called a man.

THE NEW RAYMOND RECORDER

Mr. and Mrs. G.H. Evans motored to Baltimore over the week-end with Mrs. Evans' mother Mrs. Leavitt who had just returned from the East.

Local Citizens Victims In American Accident

The crossroads at Sunburst, Montana, was the scene of a serious accident involving four Raymond citizens on Sunday, December 2nd. Howard Melchin and Roi Stone and their wives were southbound in the Melchin car when they were struck from the side by a car driven by an elderly man who was accompanied by his wife. Both cars were practically demolished and all the occupants badly shaken up and bruised with Mrs. Melchin suffering a very severe gash above the eye that required thirty-eight stitches to close.

Soon after the accident a doctor from Sunburst was on the scene and had Mrs. Melchin taken into town for First-Aid treatment. The doctor commended Mrs. Stone for her quick action in stemming the flow of blood from the gash. He said it was possible that her action saved Mrs. Melchin's life.

After being given first-aid in Sunburst Mrs. Melchin and Mrs. Stone were taken by ambulance to Shelby where Mrs. Melchin was admitted to the Memorial Hospital. Howard and Roi were taken to Shelby in a police car that was escorting the ambulance. Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Stone were brought home by Genier Nielsen and one of Melchins Transports brought back the remains of the car.

Mrs. Melchin was released from the hospital on Friday and is now resting at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dahl were week-end visitors in Great Falls.

Combine Falls On Young Lad

Duane Howard cheated death by a few scant inches on December 2nd when he was partially pinned beneath a combine on the Ken Baker farm. While changing a tire on the combine Duane had the misfortune of having the machine tip over on him.

Although he suffered fairly serious injuries his life was saved by a block of wood that prevented the whole weight of the machine from falling on him. He was treated in the local hospital by Drs. Walker and Taylor for a broken collarbone and shoulder on the left side, a cracked right shoulder and three broken ribs. His condition is progressing favorably and it is expected that he will be released from the hospital on Sunday.

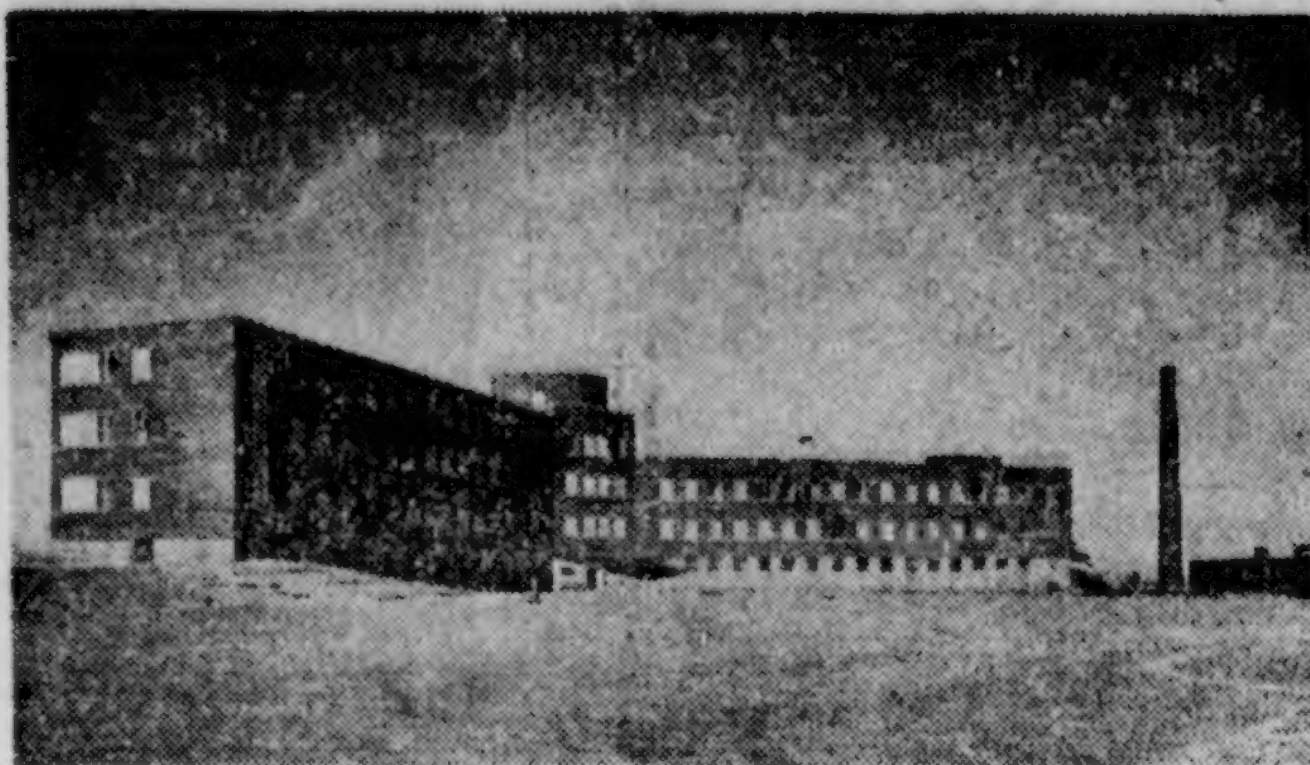

Friends of Mary Rose Selby will be interested to learn that she has completed her Beauty Culture Course and is now Head operator at the Paramount Beauty Academy in Lethbridge.

Mrs. Bill Christensen and two daughters, Mrs. Elmo Christensen and Mrs. Rex Meeks were visitors in Great Falls this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor were hosts at their annual Thanksgiving dinner last week when seventeen good friends sat down to a sumptuous turkey dinner.

After all had eaten their fill, an evening of Rook was enjoyed with High Score going to Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Card. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. Geo. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Brewerton, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hicken, John and Heber Allen, Lavern Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Asplund of Lethbridge.

Children To Be Moved Into Hospital Shortly

Patients will be moved into the new Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital in Calgary the week of Jan. 14, according to an announcement by George C. Lancaster, chairman of the hospital building committee.

The move has been delayed until the New Year owing to extensive Christmas preparations which could not be disrupted. It was decided that if the patients couldn't be moved before Dec. 5 occupation of the new hospital would have to be postponed until January.

A few of the departments will move ahead of the children. The brace shop will be installed in its new location immediately after Jan. 1 and the laundry and X-ray equipment will be moved a week ahead of the patients.

The actual date for the children to be moved has not been made public as hospital officials believe that too much excitement would upset the children.

The Psychology Club met Wednesday at the home of Kay Rolfsen. Zelinda Woolley presented the lesson on 'Covetness'.

Plans were made for the Christmas Party and it was decided to hold it in the High School on December 21st.

A delicious lunch was served to the regular members and Idale Kenney, a special guest.

"C" Day Is Big Success

C DAY, the Band's first function was held last Saturday at the Stake House. The program, ably emceed by Heber Allen was a variety of entertainment.

It got off to a start with the band playing a few numbers which were well done and showed what the Band can do. Following this were comic numbers by Irene Harris, songs by Jeanine Jensen and "Old MacDonald's Farm" by Tim Court and the wise men, Don Petrak and Reed Scoville.

Irene Harris and Tom Greene next presented two duets followed by a piano solo by Margaret Bridge. Grant Erickson and his cracked musicians (Don Petrak, Mose Fromm and Roi Stone) showed us what a jam session was.

The climax of the evening was the play, "The Idlings of the King" presented by the Rotarians with Lincoln Wood as King Arthur, Orson Bingham as Lady Gwenevere, Warren Jones as Sir Lancelot, Myron Holmes as Merlin the Magician, Fritz Dahl as the wicked Sir Modred and Kay Salmon as the Page. The play was one of the funniest in a long time.

The evening was culminated by the Band playing several numbers and God Save The King.

There was a fair crowd in attendance; about two hundred and fifty people, and the concert was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Low of Cardston were visitors on Saturday at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. O. A. Stevenson.

Occupation of the new hospital has been delayed several times since its official opening March 3. Early in the summer moving of the patients was delayed pending a survey of the hospital and the grounds on which it stands by two engineers of the engineering department of the University of Alberta.

The survey was a precautionary measure as cracks had been appearing in the walls and hospital officials wanted to be sure the hospital was in first-rate condition before being used.

Slow delivery of equipment, wrong equipment and damaged machinery also held up occupation.

Now the hospital is all ready to go. First started in September, 1948, the building was first envisioned 12 years ago when the present building was found inadequate for the needs of the crippled children in Alberta.

Audy Noel, now of McIntyre Ranch, received word Tuesday of the passing of his mother at Victoria, B. C. where he has flown to attend the funeral.

Many Pay Last Tribute To 'Grandma' Wilde

The large crowd and the profusion of floral tributes at the funeral of Mrs. Louisa Wilde held in the Stake House, Wednesday, November 28th, bespoke the love the people of this district had for this grand old lady. 'Grandma' Wilde was known and loved by young and old, and will always be remembered for her love of her fellowmen.

A. E. Foote, Councillor in the Welling Bishopric conducted the impressive services. The choir was directed by Mrs. Gen Hawkins assisted by Mrs. Dora Oler at the organ.

The invocation was offered by Heber Allen followed by the choir singing "I Need Thee Every Hour" J. C. Peterson of Cardston, who is a former bishop of the Welling Ward, was the first speaker and spoke of his long acquaintance with 'Grandma' Wilde and her family and on her wonderful character. Lucile Wilde, a granddaughter from Mountain View sang "The Holy City" and Eldred Foote spoke briefly on the sterling qualities of the deceased. The Frank Taylor Quartet rendered a beautiful selection followed by Alvin Bullock who also spoke on the great love Mrs. Wilde had for her fellowmen and of her unending charity for others. Jeanine Jensen, another granddaughter, sang Mrs. Wilde's favorite, "The Last Rose of Summer." The choir's concluding selection was "Abide With Me" after which the benediction was pronounced by John Wolsey.

Pallbearers were grandsons of Mrs. Wilde: Gordon, Murray, Ronald and Ivan Wilde, Leon Peterson and Dick Chipman. Interment was in Temple Hill Cemetery with Vaughn Taylor dedicating the grave. Christensen Bros. were funeral directors.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ehler of Lethbridge are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on December 6th.

New Officers Named For Literary Society

Ladies Literary Society met at the home of Lillian Roberts on Wednesday, November 28, claiming Lillian Roberts and Mae Tolstrup as hostesses. President Elizabeth King presided and conducted and welcomed the ladies. A get-well card was signed to be sent to Emma Redd who is ill in the hospital at Rochester.

New officers were named for 1952, and included Ethel Jacobs President; Joyce Harker, vice-president; Melba Holmes, secretary-treasurer; Fanny Walker, Norma Wood and Viola Wing as annual party conveners; Emma Dahl and Florelle Palmer as program committee.

Norma Wood reviewed a number of short articles which were much enjoyed. These were: "He Loved Me Truly", by Bailey and Walworth; "Lincoln Goes To Gettysburg", by Carl Sandburg; "Shirt Sleeve English in One Easy Lesson", by Rudolph Flesch; "Mother's Bills" ("Life with Father" condensed... by Clarence Day and "The Victorious Vratils", by Ralph Wallace.

During the social half hour that followed a plate lunch was served by the hostesses. Seventeen members and one visitor were present.

Visiting Teachers Honored

The Third Ward Relief Society Visiting Teachers were honored guests at a very enjoyable social afternoon last Thursday, with Melba Mehew, Betty Watson and Evelyn Melchin in charge of the entertaining program.

Mary Watson, Hazel Meldrum and Kay Anderson rendered a delightful vocal number "The Sunshine of Your Smile" after which Betty Watson led the group in a game called "The Coffee Pot". A humorous number, "The City Choir" was rendered by Laura Watson, Marie Strong, Gen Hawkins and Velma Bigelow, followed by another game under the direction of Melba Mehew, after which Nora Stone beautifully sang, "Stars Are The Windows of Heaven." Phyl and Vi Meeks gave one of their Gazette form of Readings, making uncomplimentary remarks about those gathered. And they all loved it!

Mesdames Margaret Ririe and Ha Gibb of the Stake Board were present and spoke briefly.

A lovely lunch was served at the close of the afternoon under the direction of Marguerite Heggie and Mary Rodeback.

Bill Nalder, Vice-President, and Gerald Gibb, Councillor, of the St. Mary's River Local A. T. A. motored to Cardston to attend a regular meeting in the Town Hall.

Re: Poll Tax

We hope that the following letter addressed to the Town Secretary will settle the poll tax problem for those troubled with this matter.

Although the length of time that a person must reside in a municipality is given as sixty days, the length of time they are employed is not given and it has always been our interpretation that if they were gainfully employed at any time during those sixty days, then they are liable for the minimum tax.

COMRADES COLUMN

At a well attended executive meeting on Wed. evening final arrangements were made for the Legion Christmas party at which Legion members will be hosts to their wives and partners and members of the Auxiliary and their partners. A live wire committee has things well in hand and invitations have gone out to all concerned.

The final General Meeting of the present executive will be held on Wed. evening December 12. Each member is urged to bring a veteran who is not a regular attendant, to assist in giving the retiring executive the proper retirement.

The Legion Hall is about to undergo a material improvement. The auxiliary is undertaking to redecorate the interior of the building. Through their urging, Jack Mehew has promised to see that protective railings are built for the front and rear steps. The canteen room in the basement is to be improved. The president-elect is already making plans for an outside entrance to the basement. A caretaker has been engaged for the winter months. The Hall is finding new uses every day. John Hellawell at Dahl Motors will look after all bookings.

The Legion Poppy Day this year has been declared a success. While final figures are not yet available it is thought the proceeds will run well in excess of $200.00. Our thanks goes out to all citizens and business firms who supported this campaign.

It is not time that Raymond had some organized group that could speak with some authority for the business men of the town and district. With this we are urging that steps be taken at once to reorganize the Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce, as it is now more popularly known.

The town could stand some organized promoting. The 1951 census figures just released were not encouraging. The district's basic industry, agriculture, has reached a saturation point. We need something new. A recognized organization pulling for natural gas could carry a lot of weight in that direction. As it is we are getting nowhere. Many smaller towns in the province now have automatic telephones while we still carry on with the horse and buggy method. There hasn't been a new industry come to town in the past 25 years. Raymond is one of the larger towns in the province without a dominion government post office building. Macleod, Cardston and Brooks have theirs and Taber's is on the way. Most of these things don't come naturally. You have to get in and dig. Perhaps through the joint effort of the service clubs something might be started. We are quite sure the Lethbridge Chamber of Commerce would sponsor our group and get the ball rolling.

Seen and overheard at the club on Wednesday evening: Roadbuilder Marcel Aneca on crutches. What we thought was the cat turned out to be a lump of coal.

Genial George all smiles to think that his name had been mentioned on CJOc.

Playboy George Haugen promising some first rate games for the Christmas party.

Jack Mehew still trying to figure out how he happened in on the Auxiliary election night.

Unauthorized persons are again selling Christmas Seals. It is reported by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association. From various parts of Alberta have again come reports that children, and even occasionally adults, are offering seals for sale, contrary to the permanent policy of the Association to send seals through the mail only.

When seals are sold by any person other than the Christmas Seal committee, it is usually a little private enterprise which benefits only the individual who conceived the bright idea. The association points out that in connection with the school essay contest a sheet of seals was sent to all teachers but it was clearly stated that they were "for demonstration purposes only and were not to be sold." It is feared that the seals being hawked about were taken from school rooms or from the homes of the children involved.

Mesdames Marie Strong, Gladys Gough, Muriel Terry and Theora Piegrass were Great Falls visitors this week.

Workers for the Regent Drilling Co have been working for the past week about six miles south-east of town. We hope they strike lots of gas.

Mrs. Harold Card and family were visitors in Magrath this week at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Christensen.

The First Ward Junior Gleaners and M Men enjoyed a Fireside recently at the home of Mrs. Phoebe Evans. Bill Nalder gave a very interesting and timely talk on 'How To Make a Success out of Life' after which a delicious lunch was served.

Christmas Seal campaign objective for Lethbridge district and Crow's Nest Pass is $17,500 for 1951. It was announced recently by C. Perry, chairman of the Lethbridge Klansmen Club Christmas Seal committee.

Thousands of seals have already arrived and dozens of voluntary workers are busy addressing envelopes, folding seals and letters, and making all necessary preparation to send 200 Christmas Seals to all householders in the district.

The 1951 Christmas Seal depicts a jolly, red-faced Santa Clause, and is considered one of the most attractive seals yet designed.

Mr. Perry said, "Deaths from tuberculosis in Alberta and in fact all over Canada are declining in a most gratifying way, but it is a fact that the incidence of TB is unaccountably higher than ever. There are still thousands of 'missing casualties', those cases of TB which are still undiscovered, and therefore a menace to all their contacts. Christmas Seal contributions help to find these hidden sources of infection."

Provincial objective for Alberta has been placed at $185,000, an increase of only $9,000 over the 1950 final returns. Money raised will help finance case-finding through the Christmas Seal mobile units and through x-ray installations in hospitals, rehabilitations, nursing and welfare services and an extensive health education program.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Some people have been suggesting lately that capitalism would have a better chance of withstanding the challenge of socialism in North America if we could just get rid of the word "capitalism". A new name—perhaps something like "mutualism" or "productivism"—would help a lot, they argue.

Maybe the system does need a fresh definition. Business practice and business philosophy are in constant change. New methods of production, sales and management are continually being tried. The search for new products and new processes goes on. New human relationships are emerging. And the very nature of the system has been greatly altered since the name first came into use.

There was a time when capitalism was synonymous with exploitation of labour and the concentration of wealth in the hands of a handful. Today, for millions of people—whether they operate small businesses or own shares in larger ones, whether they experience it as employees, or as consumers—capitalism has a much different meaning.

Performance is the important thing. If changing the name is the best we can do in the contest for men's minds, then, frankly, we might as well throw in the towel now. Ultimately, the case for capitalism—or for any other system—must stand on its own intrinsic merits.

The socialists believe that socialism will produce more well-being for mankind than capitalism. They have every right to their opinion. Unlike the communists, they do not take orders from foreign sources nor do they wish to destroy the government. They want to expand it and make it more powerful. They want the state—by legal, democratic processes—to take over more and more functions.

The proponents of capitalism, on the other hand, believe their system has clearly demonstrated its superiority. And on the basis of past performances, the balance sheet would certainly appear to be in capitalism's favor.

In the first place, the chief enemy of human freedom through most of history has been a too powerful state; and no matter how protective or paternalistic its motives may have been at times, it has been feared as such.

Secondly, there is a fundamental fact of human nature that can't be ignored: A man will exert himself if it will benefit himself and his family in an improved standard of living, in the ownership of property or in a better social standing in his community. These things he knows are available under a capitalism that rewards extra individual effort.

The question is, will he exert himself as much in a society that tries to level out the rewards and bring everybody to roughly the same economic status? The chances are—human nature being what it is—most people are apt to regard a removal of incentives as sufficient reason for loafing, or perhaps producing just enough to get by on. At the same time, it should be obvious that underproduction can have only one result: A smaller share for everybody.

It isn't our intention to defend business as it is or to suggest that all industries are perfectly conducted and above criticism. We simply think it pertinent to point out that it was capitalism that turned the luxury of yesterday into the commonplace of today.

And, given the chance, it will be the same system, no matter what name it's known by—an alive, constantly changing and freely developing capitalism—that will turn the luxury of today into the commonplace, even the necessity, of tomorrow.

The community will be glad to know that Mr. and Mrs. Karl Gehmlich returned from Calgary on Saturday with their son Grant. He is now at home recuperating.

Mrs. Dora King accompanied by Mesdames Jolayne Hill, Dot Witbeck, and Sue Clemls of Lethbridge were visitors in Great Falls over the week-end.

News commentators inform us that buxom Mae West turned thumbs down on a proposed television contract. Her principal objection was that the field was not large enough. She could possibly have been referring to the television screen itself.

Got out on the gym floor last night with a bunch of young fellows—discovered a thousand muscles that have lain dormant for a decade. While the boys took time out for their second wind, I flopped and waited for my seventh—needless to say it didn't come so I retired to the showers. I remember the time when I used to rest my chin on my chest, it was that high; now all I can do is fold my hands over it, is that low. I used to have that hour-glass figure—back in the time of youth. Now all that my figure tells me is that time has run out. Sure I've still got that figure eight form only I do it the hard way now—two figure fours. Resilient youth is a wonderful thing, but I guess I'll have to content myself with a nimble tongue, a modicum of wit, and stick to placement shots that require a minimum of distance covered.

I talked with an acquaintance of mine yesterday. He's approximately 50 years young and he assured me that he had lived his entire five decades before he learned to keep his mouth shut. Had he taken anything less than 2,000 ill-chosen words to put across this point I would not have been so incredulous; but with loquaciousness born of practice, he babbled on and thoroughly convinced me that his half century of learning had come to naught. Like some people who claim they're self-made and proceed to worship their own maker.

Heaven preserve me from a tactful woman.

Sounds like a paradoxical statement but let me assure you that next to beauty of form and face, diplomacy is a woman's most potent weapon. Little do the married ladies realize (or do they) that this gift can move a man to action when even the power of the split atom might fail. The days of arm twisting are past; nagging is obsolete, and crying jags are relegated to the obscure few that make them still work under a few isolated circumstances.

My wife inserts her own opinion so adroitly, so tactfully, into the slot of my own thoughts, that invariably I claim the brain child as my own, even brag about it. She doesn't even bat an eye lash when she observes my mis-taken possession.

Sufficient it is that her will was done. Wipe dishes? Of course I wipe dishes. Not because I'm asked but you know last time I dried my diplomatic spouse remarked that I looked charmingly domestic, even handsome, in an apron. I'm not sure she didn't even lengthen the apron ties to fit my expanding girth but there was two liberal streamers at the end of the bow and she noticed it too. I felt slim and svelte for days after.

Last time we dined out, oh yes, just a week ago; and going this week again. All simply because my wife implies that I'm the man she wishes to be seen with in public places, even intimates that she's a little proud of my appearance and behavior.

Sure 'nough if you women will only smile a little more often for your man, pat him only the back at intervals, reward him with a kiss now and then, you'll get the deserved results and he won't be half as pain-conscious when you are forced to twist his arm.

Can you blame me when I say—Heaven preserve me from a diplomatic woman—I have no weapons with which to fight them. If you encounter one use your hat as protection—just grab it and run.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Redd have returned from Rochester where 'Aunt Em' received medical attention. Her many friends will be happy to know that she is feeling much better.

SOAP FLAKE SNOW

Trimming the Christmas tree with fluffy snow is easy if you use soap flakes. It won't melt either.

Here's how it's done: Use three or four cups of soap flakes to one cup of warm water. Beat with electric beater until smooth and fluffy. Then spread immediately over branches of tree, scattering it with both hands.

For sparkle, spread on some artificial glistening snow.

Dorothy Strong accompanied her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Milt Strong of Lethbridge to Great Falls over the week-end.

The Hobby Class of the Canadian Culture classes was held in the Public Library recently.

There was a display of leatherwork made by the boys in shop at High School. Christmas gift ideas were displayed by Mesdames Phoebe Evans, Leola Meeks, Alice Powelson, Betty Evans and Loretta Heggie.

Friday evening was Birthday Evening in the month of November for a number of friends who gathered at the Melvin King home. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Jacobs, Mrs. Wilford Heninger, Mrs. Rayo Wolf, Ross King and Melvin King were all honored guests and joined their partners and friends in a few games of Rook. The prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harker for top score and Mr. and Mrs. Les Palmer for consolation. Floating Birthday Prize went to Della Woolf.

Other guests were Hamp Witbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Rulon Dahl and Emma Dahl.

A delicious lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Moselle Baker and Kay Anderson were co-hostesses at the Les Amies Club Wednesday evening at which time Mesdames Zina Anderson and Ruth Salmon gave a very interesting and instructive demonstration on chair upholstery.

In between much talking and visiting, plans were made for the Christmas Party and names were drawn for Pollyanna Friends.

A delicious plate lunch was served by the hostess.

The Courts have been marked out on the floor of the Second Ward Recreation Hall for Badminton and Volley Ball, so there should be plenty of activity going on in there this winter.

Mrs. Larry Duncombe and children were Sunday visitors in Magrath at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sabey.

The Second Ward Special Interest Class, seventy-three in all, motored to Cardston last Thursday on a Temple Excursion. A great deal of credit goes to Mrs. Irene Allred and Mrs. Zelma Innes who organized the excursion.

TO THE INDIGENTS INVALIDS

Recently an organization has been formed in order to obtain from the Federal Government a pension destined to the Indigents Invalids. The Chamber of Commons will be asked to consider the demand of this organism. In accordance with this project it is necessary that all Indigents Invalids send their names and addresses to: The Indigent Invalid Organization Reg'd. 30 Ottawa St., Granby, P.Q. This organization will send each invalid a form to fill out and make signed by two witnesses not related to him.
